Challenges

Thailand as a state party of CRPD

Thailand signed the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities on 30 March 2007 and ratified it on 29 July 2008. Thailand has become party to the CRPD since 28 August 2008. After eight years of national implementation, Thailand acceded to the Optional Protocol to the Convention on 2 September 2016

Thailand submitted its initial report in 2012. The Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities sent the Thai government a list of issues in relation to the initial report in 2015 and the report and the government responses were considered at the Committee's session held in March–April 2016 when it adopted its Concluding observations on the initial report.

Thailand

The Process of data collection and monitoring

- 1.prepare questionnaires by matching each similar topic to each organization
- 2.set up a working group to oversee the process of data collection
- 3.dispatch questionnaires to relevant organizations
- 4.In the meantime, working group is officially appointed.
- 5.collect answers from relevant organizations
- 6.conduct focus group discussion to analyze the information (composed of executives from focal organization, government officials and experts )
- 7.conduct a validation meeting to share response and update additional information from relevant organizations
- 8.make a report

Challenges

- insufficient resources

- ambiguities in specifications

- outdated data

- incorrect / indirect organization's responsibility

- the delay of collecting process and bureaucratic system
